Joe's Snowy Boat Ride

It was a cold winter day, and Joe wanted to go out. It was cold, but he did not want to postpone until tomorrow. He had a goal to catch a fish daily. It is only a little cold, not below zero.

Joe put on his coat and grabbed his rope for his boat. "This will be fun!" he said. Joe got into his boat and began to row. Joe loved how his boat rocked and sloped. He was going to meet my goal.

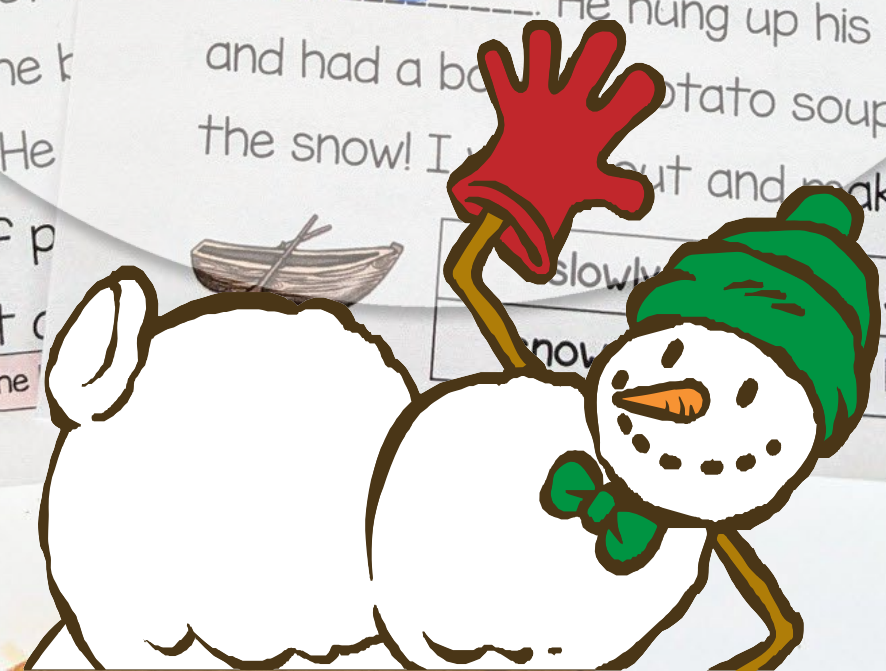

But then, Joe saw something float down from the sky. "Is that... snow?" he asked. Joe looked up at the snowflakes. "Oh no!" Joe said. "The snow could make it hard to catch one fish and go." But as Joe said, "I will catch one fish today." The snow began to fall thicker. Joe picked up his oars and rowed fast. Soon, Joe was near the shore and rowed fast.

He picked up his oars and rowed fast. The boat got stuck on the shore, but his boat got stuck. He used his yellow rope to tug the boat free. When Joe got home, he felt chilled to the bone. He turned on the stove and had a bowl of potato soup. "Next time, I will not row in the snow! I will go out and make a snowman."
